Department Commander Bell Points to Death Roll in Address to Comrades.

NEW YORK, July 12.-The Grand Army of the Republic suffered the loss during the year 1914 of 1,530 members, acording to Department Commander James D Bell.

Colonel Bell, who is one of Brooklyn's best-known civil war veterans, in his recent address to his comrades at the national encampment at Albany, stated that there were 16,023 members in good standing in the Grand Army on June 1, 1915. On January 1, 1914, there were 18,403 on the roll. Sixty more died in 1914 than in 1913. In his address, Colonel Bell said, among other things:

"The great war now devastating the contingent of Europe brings into stronger relief our own conditions of peace. The veterans of the War of the Rebellion are for peace, for it was the great leader of the Union veterans who said 'Let us have peace.'

"Our citizens must remember that it is their duty to respond to the call of their Government when needed and while we should love peace we must at the ground of desertion and misconduct, the same time be prepared to resist from John Francis Stanley. Earl Rusaggression and to sustain our nation sell. There was no defense. This foland its government against those who would not respect its just demands. Any teaching, therefore, which, in the guise of advocating peace, would weaken the patriotic impulses of our people and render them less likely to respond to demands for military serv-ice when required, should not be tolerated. But on every occasion love for our flag and our institutions should be taught to all of our people and the duties should be impressed upon them to be willing to make every sacrifice for the protection of the one and the perpetuity of the other."

SANDY HOOK GUNS AT NIGHT PRACTICE

12-Inch Mortars Shower Ton Projectiles at Tiny Target Far Off Shore.

NEW YORK, July 13.-Target practice with 12-inch mortars was enjoyed-except by those on the naval tug Gen. Harvey Brown, which towed the target -at and around Fort Hancock. Sanay Hook, at midnight. Twelve shots were fired, but the score wasn't known at the fort, because the tug hadn't come in with the target, or, as the gunners hoped, with its remains. No visitors were allowed at the fort. but nobody could prevent persons along the Jersey shore from hearing the thunder of each discharge, or those who watched on shore or ship from seeing the big shells, each weighing in the neighborhood of a ton, sailing in an illuminated arc to their destination.

The General Brown steamed in the South Channel, between the main channel and the Scotiand lightship, dragging the target about a hundred yards astern, The distance between the mortars and the distance between the mortars and the target, which was about eight feet square, was approximately two and one-half miles. Two 60-inch searchlights focused on the target, which was paint-

Countess Wins Divorce.

LONDON, July 13 .- Mollie, Countess Russell, has been granted a divorce on the ground of desertion and misconduct, lows the granting on July 13 last year of a decree of restitution of conjugal rights. Earl Russell married twice; first, in 1890, Miss Mabel Edith Scott, daughter of Sir Claude Edward Scott. In 1991 he obtained a divorce in Nevada and married Mrs. Mollie Somerville, who had previously obtained a divorce from her husband. On his return Earl Russell was tried for bigamy by his peers at Westminster and was sentenced to three months' imprisonment. Later he was granted a pardon by the King.
